As rendering and burial options for livestock mortality become more limiting or restrictive, composting livestock mortality is a good and environmentally friendly alternative. To legally compost livestock mortality in Ohio, producers are required to attend a certification training. OSU Extension invites livestock producers to earn their Mortality Composting Certification on May 4, 2020 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the Coshocton County Extension office. (re-scheduled from March 18) Rory Lewandowski, Wayne County Extension will be the featured speaker for this program. Upon completion of the program, all participants will be certified in livestock mortality composting. The fee for this certification is $10 per person (but waived for Coshocton County residents).

PRE-REGISTRATION IS REQUESTED. There is no registration fee for Coshocton County residents and $10 for out-of-county attendees. Room space is limited so register today! Call 740-622-2265 or email marrison.2@osu.edu for more information or to reserve your spot.
